

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A detailed three-dimensional structure for a bacterial core RNA polymerase is provided. Crystals of the bacterial core RNA polymerase are also included in the invention. The present invention further provides procedures for identifying agents 5 that can inhibit bacterial proliferation through the use of rational drug design predicated on the crystals and crystallographic data disclosed.